Welcome!

The 2017 Cherry Blossom Festival Committee would like to welcome you to this year’s Festival as we celebrate our 20th Anniversary. The Cherry Blossom Festival has a long history of being held in Monterey Park since the early 1970s. Discontinued shortly after, the Cherry Blossom Festival was resurrected by a group of community volunteers in 1997. Their efforts were realized through the successful reestablishment of the Cherry Blossom Festival in April 1998.

The Festival which is held every Spring in April coincides with the National Annual Festival held in Washington, DC to celebrate the 1912 gift to our Nation’s capital of 3,000 cherry trees from Mayor Ozaki of Tokyo.

Organized completely by community volunteers, many of us being teenagers during the Festival’s early years, the Festival’s goal is to showcase Japanese culture through a number of exhibits, demonstrations and traditional performances all at no cost to the public.

With our 20th Anniversary upon us, our thanks to everyone who participates in and supports this community event.

Sincerely,
The 2017 Cherry Blossom Festival Committee

Support the Festival!

Please stop by the information booth to purchase a raffle ticket for $2.00 each. All proceeds will go to fund next year’s festival and you may win a great prize donated by our sponsors.

Prizes include cash and restaurant, salon and car wash gift certificates. Drawing will be held on Sunday, April 23rd. Winner need not be present.

Special thanks to the City of Monterey Park staff, especially Recreation Superintendent Robert Aguirre and Recreation Senior Clerk Typist Cristina Castillo.

CONSUL GENERAL AKIRA CHIBA

Akira Chiba assumed the post of Consul General of Japan, Los Angeles in July 2016. Born in Tehran, Iran, he is a third-generation career diplomat, after his father and grandfather before him. During his several decades career in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA), he has spent eight years in China, and the remainder of his overseas postings in Switzerland, the Islamic Republic of Iran and the United States. The post of Consul General in Los Angeles is his third U.S. tour. During assignments in Tokyo, Chiba has been charged with legal affairs, grant aid, and economic cooperation portfolios, in addition to Oceanian regional affairs and several years as MOFA’s Assistant Press Secretary to the international media. He has written journal articles on Japan’s global relations and authored numerous texts, many published both in Japanese and Chinese on a wide variety of topics, from Japan-Sino relations to the intricacies of working with the U.S. Congress. He is a graduate of the Law Faculty of Tokyo University, attended Peking University in China, and graduated with an M.A. in Asian Studies from UC Berkeley.

DENISE DADOR

Health specialist Denise Dador is the Eyewitness News Health specialist. Her Healthy Living segment is seen every day on ABC7 Eyewitness News at 4 pm and 5 pm. She provides additional stories about health issues for other Eyewitness News broadcasts as well as anchoring ABC7 Health specials. Denise grew up in San Francisco and attended Lowell High School. She graduated from Mills College, where she majored in Communications with a minor in Comparative Government. In 1990, Denise took a position at Fox’s KMPH in Fresno, California. Initially a general assignment reporter, Denise was appointed South Valley bureau chief and eventually became the main anchor of the station’s nightly news. She joined ABC affiliate WXYZ in Detroit, Michigan as their health reporter in 1993. She was served as the weekend anchor, and hosted a weekly news program called Healthy Living Live. Since joining ABC7 Eyewitness News in 1998, Denise has also covered breaking news, including the February 2001 Seattle Earthquake, as well as an exclusive interview with the President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo regarding terrorist activities in the Philippines. Denise has received numerous journalism and community service awards. She was the recipient of an Emmy for outstanding news feature reporting. She was awarded Best News Feature from the Michigan Association of Broadcasters, as well as the Outstanding Health Reporting award from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Denise received the Profiles in Progress award from the American Cancer Society. The Filipino American Library, SIPA and various other notable Filipino American groups have also honored Denise for her commitment to community involvement.

RODNEY KAGEYAMA

An accomplished actor, Rodney has appeared in films such as “The Next Karate Kid”, “Pretty Woman” and on television shows such as “Home Improvement”, “Quantum Leap”, “Married with Children” and “The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air.” We are honored to have him join us for another year as our Festival’s emcee.

SHIN ITO

Shin is a long-time supporter of the Monterey Park Cherry Blossom Festival. We are happy to have him back again this year.
FESTIVAL SPECIAL GUESTS/PERFORMERS

LA KIMONO CLUB
On March 15, 2003, approximately 40 men and women who love Kimono met to form a club with the agreed objective of promoting mutual understanding and cultural exchanges between the US and Japan through Kimono. They officially formed the club now called “LA KIMONO CLUB.” Throughout the year, members have the opportunity to share the joy of Kimono amidst good company at a host of events. The LA Kimono Club also started the “Miss Kimono L.A.” contest in 2010 in Little Tokyo to encourage kimono culture to the younger generation.

LOCAL MOJO
LOCAL MOJO is a band of professional Los Angeles freelance musicians with the goal of performing great dance music of the past from artists such as Stevie Wonder, Aretha Franklin, Marvin Gaye, Earth, Wind & Fire, Chicago, Tower of Power, Motown etc. LOCAL MOJO is one of the most versatile performing acts around with an emphasis on “Old School” Rhythm & Blues / Motown Dance Music - with a twist of Jazz! If you love to dance to old school R & B and SOUL, then LOCAL MOJO is definitely the band for you!

KOKORO
In Japanese, “kokoro” is used to signify “heart” or “soul”. In music, the drums keep the beat, or the “heart” of the music. The keyboards, bass and guitar represent the body of the music, and the vocals embody the “soul”. The band Kokoro is a music group consisting of almost all Asian-Americans, and covers music from Motown to country, rock and pop; from the hits of the 60’s to current Billboard chart toppers. Though Kokoro has only been together a short time, individually the members of Kokoro have had the good fortune to work with many celebrities in the industry, including Gladys Knight, Jessica Simpson, Hiroshima, and Gene Simmons, to name a few. Additionally, throughout their own individual careers, they have played high-level venues such as the Palladium, the Sunset Strip, the Flamingo Hilton Las Vegas and the American Music Awards. The members of Kokoro came together to form a band out of the pure love of music — and together, they have found something beyond just performing together, but shaped their own musical family. Kokoro prides itself on performing not just the music and lyrics of the song, but getting down to the soul of the song. After all, as the saying by Frederick Delius goes: “Music is an outburst of the soul.

Special Thanks:
The Cherry Blossom Festival Committee wishes to express its gratitude to Kurt Ogawa for designing the poster/program cover for the festival for so many years. This year’s poster features a few of the colorful and imaginative graphics that he has created over the festival’s history. We thank him again for his commitment and creativity. Thank you Kurt!

ALLEN THE ILLUSIONIST
Allen Oshiro has been perfecting his magic since the age of five! He is well known for his amazing magic using live rabbits and doves, astonishing slight of hand tricks and even incredible levitations.

AZUMA KOTOBUKI KAI
The Azuma Kotobuki Kai, a branch of the Azuma-Ryu Classical Dance School (Tokyo, Japan), was established in Southern California in 1968 by Madame Sumako Azuma I. The current instructors are Sumako Azuma II (Los Angeles) and Kikusue Azuma (LA, Orange and Ventura Counties and Kapa‘a Hawaii). While the instructors teach many classical dances, they also break new ground by incorporating classical dance technique with modern music to help reach the younger generations. The purpose of the Azuma Kotobuki Kai is to preserve and promote Japanese culture through the art of Nihon Buyo, or classical Japanese dance.

BOMBU TAIKO
Bombu Taiko is a community-based taiko group founded in 2002 at the Los Angeles Higashi Honganji Buddhist Temple and is instructed by members of the TAIKOPROJECT. Named by Rinban Noriaki Ito after the “Bombu” of Buddhist philosophy, Bombu Taiko in its short lifespan has performed throughout Los Angeles at numerous events and gatherings, including the Nisei Week Festival, the L.A. Marathon, and gala events and dinners. "Bombu" loosely translates as “ordinary people” or the “unenlightened masses,” and the joy of playing together is stressed in the group, as well as the Buddhist taiko philosophy developed by Rev. Masao Kodani and Kinnara Taiko, which emphasizes letting go of one’s ego and just having fun.

PERFORMERS

PHYLLIS CHANG
Phyllis Chang is a Korean American singer/songwriter from Los Angeles. She is best known for her “smooth-jazzy” vocal sound. She began performing for the Monterey Park Cherry Blossom festival over ten years ago. Her earliest performances were “Pinkies Paws” sing-along songs for children and the “Young at Heart.” Over the festival years, Phyllis has also performed her contemporary pop/jazz music with her band on the main stage. In 1995, Phyllis started Pinky Paws Productions as an indie label music production studio. Since then she has recorded and produced six CDs of children and contemporary pop/jazz songs. Later in 2006, Phyllis founded Be Studios Enhancing Wellness Through Creativity and offers workshops and events to enhance healing and wellness through art and music.

FUJI JAPANESE MUSIC AND YAMATOGAKU USA
This group performs folk music (minyo) as well as kabuki-style dance and music.

FUJIMA KANSEI ODORI KAI
Founded by Fujima Kansei on April 4, 1990, this group seeks to express Japanese Classical Dance to Americans and Japanese Americans of the third and fourth generations. Students ranging in age from 4-40 years old are taught at her residence in Diamond Bar and at Higashi Honganji Buddhist Temple in Los Angeles. Training for Fujima Kansei was under the tutelage of Madame Fujima Kansuma where her Natori was received. She received further training in Japan under Grand Master Fujima Kanjuro VI.

HALAU HULA MOANI‘A’ALA ANUHEA
Based in Monterey Park, this group opened its doors in 2007. Under the direction of Christina Aiu-Quezada, this school is founded on the practices and principles of traditional hula school whose roots trace back to the island of Kaua‘i.

KAYAMA PUPPET THEATER
Performance of Japanese folk tales using hand puppets made from clay and foam. The puppet show theater was founded by Isoko Kayama of Los Angeles.

JAPANESE CLASSICAL DANCE: NANCY HAYATA
Nancy Teramura Hayata lives life with a love of what is new and exciting, yet places a strong emphasis on the beauty and the traditions of her Japanese ancestry. Born and raised in Los Angeles, she studied Nihon Buyo under Fujima Chiseye Sensei for nearly twenty years. She also studied Minyo Dance under Imoto Hoshunju Sensei. Nancy teaches Japanese dance in Little Tokyo and choreographs the majority of the dances that she performs. She choreographed and taught the Nisei Week Court their Japanese dance for the 2014 Coronation.
PERFORMERS

KOSHIN TAIKO
Koshin Taiko traces its lineage back to the first professional taiko group in Japan. Oedo Sukeroku Taiko made history with its blend of classical Japanese music, martial arts, and Dance, and its influence can be seen in taiko groups around the world. Sensei Etsuo Hongo brought the Oedo Sukeroku style to his own energetic compositions when he founded Koshin Taiko in 1992. In his unique form, powerful and beautiful taiko sounds are created through carefully choreographed movement. This synthesis of powerful sound and graceful movement, along with their visually distinctive Okedou, of rope-tightened drums, makes Koshin Taiko one of the most dynamic taiko groups in Los Angeles. Now, under the leadership of Virginia Minami and Wes Hayashi, Koshin continues to build upon this long tradition. By incorporating aspects of other styles of drumming while still exploring the rich traditions of Japanese taiko, Koshin continues to live up to the name Hongo Sensei gave it over twenty years ago: Bright Spirit!

MARK KEPPEL HIGH SCHOOL AZTEC SINGERS
This group is a competitive show and concert choir. Since 1985, the Mark Keppel Aztec Singers have established a Tradition of producing outstanding annual show productions, festival participation and community concerts across California.

MARK KEPPEL HIGH SCHOOL LION DANCE
A combination of cultural art and performance, our team consists of high school aged lion dancers who contribute their passion and time to performing. We perform annually in the downtown Los Angeles Chinatown Parade/Golden Dragon Parade.

KOTOBUKI NO KAI
This group is the Los Angeles Headquarters for Nippon Minyo Kenkyu Kai based in Nagoya Japan. Nippon Minyo Kenkyu Kai is considered one of the largest Minyo dance groups. Shihan Imoto Hoshun-Jyu Sensei teaches Japanese Folk Dance or Minyo Odori in the classical Minyo as well as Shin or new Minyo style. She also teaches Kayo Buyo or Dance accompanied by Popular Song. Kotobuki No Kai was the first group from the United States to be invited to perform on stage at the the 50th Anniversary of Nippon Minyo Kenkyukai in Nagoya, Japan.

MELE OHANA UKULELE
Mele Ohana is a community based ukulele group lead by Mike Gregan, who teaches ukulele classes at the City of Los Angeles Barnsdall Art Center in Hollywood. Mele Ohana was started on "the island" of Gardena, California by its kumu Randy Dacoscos. The group maintains its strong ties with Gardena through its association with Kawika Dacoscos and its original members.

KYO NO KAI KABUKI
“Kyo no Kai” is an organization founded and headed by Kabuki actor Nakamura Gankyo (aka Bando Hiroshichiro). The mission of Kyo no Kai is to teach and promote various aspects of traditional Japanese culture with the emphasis on the performance art of Kabuki- (“ka” to act, “bu” to dance, “ki” ability) to people all over the world.

MARK KEPPEL HIGH SCHOOL PEP BAND
The Aztec Pep Band is a smaller version of the Mark Keppel High School Aztec Band that performs at sports games and community events. The band is under the direction of Mr. Justin Lee, Drum Major, Anna Wu, and Assistant Drum Major, Candace Lee. Today, the Pep Band will perform popular musical arrangements, including Bang Bang, Ex’s and Oh’s, and Seven Nation Army.

Special thanks to the Performers, Exhibitors, Demonstrators, Vendors, Volunteers, Visitors and Supporters of our Fundraisers who continue to make our Festival a success. We look forward to working with all of you again!
PERFORMERS

ERICA NAGASHIMA
Erica Nagashima is a professional vocalist and model living in Los Angeles. Her father was born in the Yokosuka area of Japan and her American mother was born in Washington. Erica has performed the last two years at the LA Tanabata Festival. She obtained her degree in Opera Performance from UC Santa Barbara. Throughout Erica’s life she has been enthralled by music. At a young age she took music lessons for guitar, drums, french horn, and most notably, the violin (six years) and voice (eight years). Having studied classical, musical theatre as well as jazz, Erica has a passion for many genres. Currently, she is pursuing her contemporary music career and is enjoying living in Los Angeles where she is able to learn from many talented and inspiring artists.

OHANA POLYNESIAN DANCERS
Ohana Polynesian Dancers are a group of family members connected by family values and united sharing Polynesian culture through music, dance and entertainment. Based in Diamond Bar/Walnut California, under the direction of Thela Leimamo Nink and daughter Christa Kamalani Nink, professional dancer, teacher/choreographer. They provide lessons for all age groups and dance levels in Tahitian, Hawaiian, Maori poi balls, drumming, and ukulele. Members have traveled and performed at Tokyo Disney, China, Tahiti and Hawaii and are available for booking.

SHINSHI
Shinshi means “gentleman” in Japanese language as an aspiring gentleman of bossa nova. Shinshi was seventeen years old when he first started playing the guitar. His heart was captured by the beauty of Bossa Nova when he first heard Neon Genesis Evangelion’s version of “Fly Me To The Moon.” Since then he has performed in various sessions as a “Bossanovista” as well as participated in other sessions involving Samba and West African music. He has performed anime songs and bossa nova songs in Anime Los Angeles. Currently he plays bossa nova at Japanese bar Can-zo in Gardena every Monday night.

RYUKYUKOKU MATSURI DAIKO
The group name literally translates to “Ryukyu Kingdom Festival Drums”. Ryukyu Kingdom is the ancient name for what is presently known as the Okinawa prefecture of Japan. Ryukyukoku Matsuri Daiko is modeled on the traditional Okinawan obon festival drum dancing called “eisa”. The performers dance and rum simultaneously to an exciting blend of traditional and contemporary Okinawan and Japanese music. The organization was founded in 1982 in Okinawa. The Los Angeles chapter was established in 1995, and has performed at such venues as the Nisei Week Parade, U.S. Japan Expo and LA County Fair.

SUNNY AND JUDY SEKI
Sunny Seki is the author/illustrator of three Japanese children’s books: Yuko-chan and the Daruma Doll, The Last Kappa of Old Japan, and The Tale of the Lucky Cat, which won awards from NAPPA Parenting Publishing and Creative Child Magazine. Born in Tokyo in 1947, he graduated from Nihon Daigaku with a degree in Photography. He then came to the United States, where he studied illustration at Pasadena Art Center of Design. For the next 32 years he operated Sunny Seki Photography in Rosemead. Today he presents his books and other Japanese folktales at community events. Sunny and wife Judy have nine children, and they live in San Gabriel.
SOUTHLAND AIKIDO
Southland Aikido, located in Monterey Park, provides quality instruction in the Japanese martial arts of Aikido and Iaido (swordsmanship). Aikido and Iaido are both budo or Martial Ways. Aikido is “a way of life in harmony with the spirit,” as it provides not only a system of effective self-defense but also a discipline designed to forge body, mind and spirit. Iaido is similarly “a way of life in harmony with oneself” and provides a martial process to develop oneself through focused training. Our demonstration will highlight the principles of Aikido and will show examples of the dynamic and powerful techniques in both empty-handed situations and with and against Aiki weapons – bokken, jo and tanto. Also, our Iaido group will perform a series of kata that will demonstrate the precision and focus inherent in this art.

TORRES KEMPO KARATE
Lead by Sensei David Torres, a 10th degree black belt, with over 40 years of martial arts training, students will demonstrate traditional Kempo Karate. The group has performed across the United States and has won a number of National Championships.

U.S. CHINESE WU SHU MARTIAL ARTS TEAM
Wu Shu is China's national sport, largely a performance version of various martial art styles. The team performs under the direction of Coach Ming Qiu, who started training at the Jiang Su Wu Shu academy and won many gold medals in the Chinese championships. In 1995, she moved to Monterey Park and competed for team Paul Mitchell in the North American Sport Karate Association (NASKA) for five years and was awarded the 1999 Black Belt magazine's Competitor of the Year. She worked on more than 60 movies and television shows as a stuntwoman and was honored by the Diamond in the Raw Foundation. She teaches Sunday mornings in Barnes Park.

TÖGEN DAIKO
Togen Daiko is based at the Oxnard Buddhist Temple and has been performing taiko in Ventura County for over 20 years. They are dedicated to preserving and advancing the art of "Buddhist Style" taiko drumming, pioneered by Rev. Mas Kodani of the Senshin Buddhist Temple. Through cultural performances, both traditional and not-so-traditional, Togen continues to share and carry on this distinctive Japanese American tradition.

YOKI DAIKO
Yoki Daiko, which means Joyous Drumming, was formed during the summer of 1996 at the Tenrikyo Church in Boyle Heights. Through the dynamic rhythms of Japanese drumming, Yoki Daiko strives to bring positive energy wherever it performs and to create a vibe that everyone can live a joyous life together as brothers and sisters.

YUNA & TIDA
Yuna & Tida are a musical duo who bring a taste of Ryukyuan soul through the traditional Okinawan 3 string lute known as the 'Sanshin'. They are based in Los Angeles and are available for public/private events. Their interests include travelling, singing, adventuring, bike riding, drawing, painting, and making fun of each other.

YUUJOU DAIKO
Yuujou Daiko was established in 2012 through their friendship and shared goals – Yuujou meaning friendship. Yuujou Daiko is dedicated to mastering the beautiful art of Japanese taiko drumming and bringing its high energy and powerful sounds to communities throughout Southern California. Yuujou also believes in educating its audience by sharing taiko’s cultural roots, history and philosophies through their performances and taiko classes taught both in the South Bay area and South San Gabriel. They would like to share this energy of taiko with you.
EXHIBITORS

SOGETSU IKEBANA
This group practices a modern form of the ancient Japanese Cultural Art. The motto of the school is to make beautiful arrangements with any materials, in any place, by anyone. The group will present demonstrations by master instructors and an exhibition will feature arrangements created by advanced students as well as beginners.

There will be special workshops offered each day of the festival from 2:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. in the Gym for anyone interested in trying their hands at creating a work of living art to take home. Materials fee is $5.00.

IKEBANA
Ikebana is the art of beautifully arranging cut stems, leaves, and flowers in vases and other containers that evolved in Japan over seven centuries.

Over the seven centuries of its evolution, ikebanahas developed many different styles of arrangement. Among the most common are the rikka (standing flowers), seikaor shoka (living flowers), and nageire (flung flowers) styles when making arrangements in bowl-shaped vases and the moribana (piled-up flowers) style when using dish-like containers.

The choice of what flowers to arrange is guided by the desire to create harmony between flower and container and to find flowers that blend in well with its surroundings. Although layer after layer of flowers are used in Western floral arrangements, in ikebana, the key consideration is to use as few stems and leaves as possible in composing elegant contours that highlight the flowers’ beauty.

SUMI-E
Sumi-e Ink wash painting, also known as literati painting is an East Asian type of brush painting that uses black ink—the same as used in East Asian calligraphy, in various concentrations. Asian aesthetic writing is generally consistent in stating the goal of ink and wash painting is not simply to reproduce the appearance of the subject, but to capture its spirit. To paint a horse, the ink wash painting artist must understand its temperament better than its muscles and bones. To paint a flower, there is no need to perfectly match its petals and colors, but it is essential to convey its liveliness and fragrance. East Asian ink wash painting may be regarded as a form of expressionistic art that captures the unseen. Ink wash painting uses tonality and shading achieved by varying the ink density, both by differential grinding of the ink stick in water and by varying the ink load and pressure within a single brushstroke. Ink wash painting artists spend years practicing basic brush strokes to refine their brush movement and ink flow. In the hand of a master, a single stroke can produce astonishing variations in tonality, from deep black to silvery gray.

LONG BEACH SUMI-E
The Long Beach Sumi-e Group fosters an understanding of and appreciation of sumi-e, traditional Japanese ink wash painting.

EXHIBITORS/DEMONSTRATORS

KIMEKOMI NINGYO DOLLS

HIROFUMI KAI

Hisako Matsumoto will present Kimekomi from Hirofumi Kai. Kimekomi dolls were first crafted about 250 years ago, during the Genbun Era in Japan. Kimekomi dolls are also known as Gamo Dolls, or Willow Dolls (Yanagi Ningyou). The Founder of Hirofumi Kai, Mataro Kanabayashi, revived the orthodox technique of the Gamo doll. In reviving this method, the modern craft of the unique Mataro doll was established.

The method of producing the doll’s figure has changed from that of the early days, when the body was carved from a pieces of wood. Nowadays, we blend Paulownia sawdust with paste to produce the model. As a result of this, Kimekomi dolls are now available to many people.

YUKARI KAI

Kyuka (Kari) Kanesaka will present hand-crafted dolls with hand-painted porcelain faces (heads) and wooden bodies dressed in beautiful Japanese fabric. Yukari Kai will also be doing demonstrations throughout the festival and answer questions about these dolls and the traditions behind them.

AIKO INSTITUTE - Aiko institute is offering hands on experience in Japanese Zen Calligraphy, a unique form of Japanese calligraphy practice (shodo) which centers on the practice of one stroke artwork, as well as demonstrations in Aikido and Zen Brush.

OSAMU SAITO

Osamu Saito was born in Hokkaido, Japan. He studied sign design, Sumi-e (Japanese ink painting), calligraphy, and watercolor, acrylic and oil painting, both in Japan and in the United States. He moved to Southern California in 1975 to study and broaden his creative ideas and techniques. Osamu is the recipient of numerous awards from art competitions throughout California. He was a member of Rental and Sale gallery at LACMA for five years where his watercolor paintings had been exhibited. In 2001, his watercolor paintings were in three watercolor books published in Japan. He teaches watercolor at Yosemite National Park Art Center on the first week of September every year and he currently teaches at the Ken Nakaoka Center in Gardena, California.

JAPANESE TEA CEREMONY - URASENKE SCHOOL

The Japanese tea ceremony (cha-no-yu, chado or sado) is a traditional ritual influenced by Zen Buddhism in which prepared by a skilled practitioner and served to a small group of guests in a tranquil setting. Cha-no-yu, literally “hot water for tea”, usually refers to a single ceremony or ritual, while sado or chado refer to the study or doctrine of tea ceremony.

Since a tea practitioner must be familiar with the production of types of tea, with kimono, calligraphy, flower arranging, ceramics, incense and a wide range of other disciplines and traditional arts in addition to his or her school’s tea practices, the study of tea ceremony takes many years and often lasts a lifetime.

STONE ISHIMARU

If you ever heard a banjo playing in the Cherry Blossom Exhibit Hall... it was “Stone”. Always smiling, always ready to answer any and all questions and always in the corner by the stage was our dear friend Stone Ishimaru.

Unable to attend the Festival this year, there will be an empty void in his usual spot. We will miss his six tables loaded with hundreds of Internment photos applied to poster board. We will miss the stories of camp life and his incredible energy. Stone would stand all day answering questions, play his banjo during the stage performance breaks, and even sing a tune or two. If you had a family member in camp he would do his best to find them amongst his abundance of pictures and he was forever educating anyone who was interested. Young or old or in-between he had time and stories for everyone.

Take care Stone!

Respectfully,
the Cherry Blossom Committee
EXHIBITORS/DEMONSTRATORS

ORIGAMI

Origami is the traditional Japanese art of paper folding. The word origami is derived from 2 Japanese words - ‘oru’ which means to fold and ‘kami’ which means paper. With right paper folding techniques, you can watch interesting shapes and creations unfold before your eyes. Origami is a craft that requires patience and precision but it is also an art that demands creativity.

JAPANESE AMERICAN NATIONAL MUSEUM

The mission of the Japanese American National Museum is to promote understanding and appreciation of America’s ethnic and cultural diversity by sharing the Japanese American experience. In addition to its exhibitions and slate of related public programs, JANM hosts approximately 10,000 K–12 students every year; produces high-quality videos capturing community oral histories and museum programming; operates DiscoverNikkei.org, a rich, web-based resource for Japanese immigrant communities all over the world; and partners with numerous institutions to present an array of specialty programming. The museum offers several free family days each year, featuring engaging activities for visitors of all ages.

MICHAEL SANDERS

Michael Sanders is a 13 year member of the Westcoast Origami Guild and Origami USA, and for more than a decade he has been entertaining children and adults alike with the magic of origami.

SUSHI CHEF INSTITUTE
Chefs of Japanese cuisine and sushi, much like artists, use their unfilled canvas and craft works of art to indulge not only with one’s eye but with their palates. This ritual has existed for centuries and is a time capsule from generation to generation of legacies from their forefathers. Sushi has become the food of choice among fitness and health-oriented communities, not to mention its fashionable mark in society, simply due to its natural and wholesome ingredients that are mostly found in nature.

The Sushi Chef Institute teaches their students the authentic methods and philosophies, which ultimately integrate with each individual’s technique and expertise. The curriculum includes training students on proper sanitation procedures, safe food handling and business management of a well functioning restaurant. Upon completion, SCI offers students job placement from a network of chefs and restaurants all around the world.

FUGETSU-DO
Fugetsu-Do has been a family owned and operated confectionery store in Little Tokyo since 1903. Japanese rice cakes, more commonly known as mochi (rice cake) and manju (sweet bean filled rice cake), are the staple. The shop, which is currently operated by Brian Kito, is located on East First Street in the Historic District of Little Tokyo.

Founder Seiichi Kito was born in Gifu, in Central Japan. Seiichi came to the United States in May 1903 and went to where other Japanese immigrants were—in the East First Street District of Los Angeles. Seiichi started producing sweets and opened Fugetsu-Do with a couple of friends. Fugetsu-Do’s success was largely due to the hard work of the entire Kito family.

In the past few years the number of visitors to Little Tokyo has increased and the area has welcomed new residents with the revitalization of downtown Los Angeles. For this diverse public Brian has introduced peanut butter and chocolate mochi and strawberry manju. Meanwhile Fugetsu-Do also counts on the local Buddhist Temples and the Japanese grocery stores as regular customers. Japanese holidays such as New Year’s Day (1/1), Girl’s Day (3/3) and Boy’s Day (5/5) also bring an influx of extra business, as special mochi and manju are made for those specific occasions.

Japanese Dining Etiquette

Itadakimasu and Gochisosama
In Japan, it is customary to say itadakimasu (literally "I [humbly] receive") before starting to eat a meal. When saying itadakimasu, both hands are put together in front of the chest or on the lap. Itadakimasu is preceded by complimenting the appearance of food. The Japanese attach as much importance to the aesthetic arrangement of the food as its actual taste. Before touching the food, it is polite to compliment the host on his artistry. Remember also to wait for the honored or eldest guest at the table to start eating before you do. Another custom is to say go-chisō-sama deshita (literally "It was a feast") to the host after the meal and the restaurant staff when leaving.

Bowls

Chopsticks
The proper usage of chopsticks (hashi) is the most important table etiquette in Japan. Chopsticks are never left sticking vertically into rice, as this resembles incense sticks (which are usually placed vertically in sand) during offerings to the dead. This may easily offend some Japanese people. Using chopsticks to spear food or to point is also frowned upon and it is considered very bad manners to bite chopsticks. Other important chopsticks rules to remember include the following:

- Hold your chopsticks towards their end, and not in the middle or the front third.
- When you are not using your chopsticks and when you are finished eating, lay them down in front of you with the tip to left.
- Do not pass food with your chopsticks directly to somebody else’s chopsticks. Only at funerals are the bones of the cremated body given in that way from person to person.
- Do not move your chopsticks around in the air too much, nor play with them.
- Do not move around plates or bowls with chopsticks.

To separate a piece of food into two pieces, exert controlled pressure on the chopsticks while moving them apart from each other.

Communal dish
When taking food from a communal dish, unless they are family or very close friends, one should turn the chopsticks around to grab the food; it is considered more sanitary. Alternatively, one could have a separate set of chopsticks for communal dishes.

Sharing
If sharing food with someone else, move it directly from one plate to another. Never pass food from one pair of chopsticks to another, as this recalls passing bones during a funeral.

POKE is a raw fish salad served as an appetizer in Hawaiian cuisine, and sometimes as an entree. Poke is the Hawaiian verb for "section" or "to slice or cut". Traditional forms are aku (tuna) and he’e (octopus).

SUSHI is a Japanese dish consisting of cooked vinegared rice which is commonly topped with other ingredients, such as fish or other seafood, or put into rolls.

Makizushi (巻寿司, "rolled sushi"), Norimaki (海苔巻き, "Nori roll") or makimono (巻物, "variety of rolls") is a cylindrical piece, formed with the help of a bamboo mat, called a makisu (巻篤). Makizushi is generally wrapped in nori, but can occasionally be found wrapped in a thin omelette, soy paper, cucumber, or parsley. Makizushi is usually cut into six or eight pieces, which constitutes a single roll order.

Inarizushi (稲荷寿司) is a pouch of fried tofu filled with usually just sushi rice. It is named after the Shinto god Inari, who is believed to have a fondness for fried tofu. The pouch is normally fashioned as deep-fried tofu (油揚げ, abura age). It should not be confused with inari maki, which is a roll filled with flavored fried tofu.

DANGO (団子) is a Japanese dumpling and sweet made from mochiko (rice flour), related to mochi. It is often served with green tea. Dango is eaten year-round, but the different varieties are traditionally eaten in given seasons.

IMAGAWAYAKI (今川焼き) is a Japanese dessert often found at festivals. It is made of batter in a special pan (similar to a waffle iron but without the honeycomb pattern), and filled with sweet azuki bean paste, although it is becoming increasingly popular to use a wider variety of fillings such as vanilla custard, different fruit custards and preserves, curry, different meat and vegetable fillings, potato and mayonnaise.

KALUA is a traditional Hawaiian cooking method that utilizes an imu, a type of underground oven. The word kālua may also be used to describe the food cooked in this manner, such as kālua pig, which is commonly served at luau feasts. The meat produced is smoky and tender.

SOMEN are very thin white Japanese noodles made of wheat flour. The noodles are usually served cold. The noodles' diameter is the chief distinction between sōmen and the thicker wheat noodles hiyamugi and Japanese wheat noodles udon. Somen noodles are usually served cold with a light flavored dipping sauce or tsuyu. The tsuyu is usually a katsuobushi-based sauce that can be flavored with Welsh onion, ginger, or myoga. In the summer, somen chilled with ice is a popular meal to help stay cool.

TAKOYAKI (たこ焼き or 蟹焼き) Literally fried or grilled octopus, takoyaki is a popular ball-shaped Japanese dumpling or more like a savory pancake made of batter and cooked in a special takoyaki pan. It is typically filled with diced octopus, tempura scraps, pickled ginger, and green onion. Nowadays, it is commonly brushed with takoyaki sauce and mayonnaise, and topped with green laver (aonori) and katsuobushi (shavings of dried bonito).

JAPANESE AESTHETICS

There are basic principles that underlie Japanese art and culture. These Japanese aesthetics are the basis for Japanese art, fashion, pop culture, music and movies.

Wabi-sabi (imperfect)
A way of living that focuses on finding beauty within the imperfections of life and accepting peacefully the natural cycle of growth and decay. The concept of wabi-sabi is often extended to include impermanent. For example, sakura (cherry blossoms) are more beautiful because they do not last forever.

Miyabi (elegance)
Miyabi is often translated “heartbreaker.” It is all about eliminating anything that is vulgar. Does swearing make a movie better? According to Miyabi — it does not.

Shibui (subtle)
Shibui means simple, subtle or unobtrusive. It means that things are more beautiful when they speak for themselves — when they are not loud and in your face.

Jo-ha-kyu (slow, accelerate, end)
Jo-ha-kyu is a tempo that can be translated as — start slowly, accelerate and end suddenly. This aesthetic is used by Japanese traditional arts such as tea ceremony. It’s also used widely by Japanese martial arts.

Iki (originality)
Iki is uniqueness. In many ways, Japanese culture does not celebrate uniqueness. As the Japanese proverb goes — the nail that sticks up is pounded down. Therefore, a better translation of Iki is “refined uniqueness.”

Yugen (mysterious)
Yugen states that life is boring when all the facts are known. Something should be held back — the mystery. Ever watch a movie that doesn’t explain everything? That is yugen.

Geido (discipline and ethics)
Have you ever noticed that Japanese martial arts (and traditional arts) are all about discipline? Ethics and discipline make things more attractive.

Ensou (the void)
Ensou is a zen concept. It is often represented by a circle. It can mean infinity or nothingness.

Kawaii (cute)
An adjective in Japanese meaning pretty; cute; lovely; charming; dear; darling; pet. Some argue it is a new Japanese aesthetic. Others say kawaii has always been part of Japanese culture. Either way, it has certainly become the most popular Japanese aesthetic in recent years.
